

Asherman's Syndrome

Asherman's syndrome is a condition where scar tissue affects the uterus and which can lead to problems with fertility. The International Asherman's Association provides detailed advice on this condition, including the impact on fertility.

Visit the International Asherman's Association for information and support for Asherman's Syndrome, intrauterine adhesions/scarring, or related problems.