Fertility Network UK support the Welsh NHS Confederation's call for conversation on future of nation's health

Fertility Network UK has joined the 32 organisations coming together to support the Welsh NHS Confederation's call for a cross-government national conversation on the future of health and wellbeing.

Announced on the day of the Welsh NHS Confederations' annual conference, over 30 organisations from a range of sectors in Wales are supporting the call for a cross-government and cross-sector public conversation on the future of health and care services and the population's health and wellbeing.

As signatories of the call to action, Fertility Network UK share the view that it is for all government departments, ministers and sectors to ask what they can do to support the health and wellbeing of people now and in the future, including matters relating to fertility.

Emma Rees, Fertility Network's Wales coordinator, said: "As the patient voice charity for anyone affected by a fertility issue, we, Fertility Network UK, support the call for a national conversation on the co-production of a health and care service for the future."
